NHTI OFFERS SPRING 2008 LANDSCAPING SEMINAR SERIES

Whether you build landscapes professionally, design them or simply enjoy them, this series of seminars helps you acquire skills necessary to optimize the functional and visual potential of residential landscape. The first of an on going series, which will continue in Fall of 2008, is designed to educate and inspire professionals and homeowners alike. With the help of experts learn how to improve the value of your property and enjoy the beauty of your outdoor living space.

SEMINAR TOPICS/SCHEDULE

• LANDSCAPING AND BASIC CARE OF DESIGNED AND NATURAL PONDS

Natural and man-made ponds are valuable features in the landscape, providing wildlife habitat, water resources and natural beauty. This seminar will discuss how to design a man-made pond, how to landscape along the water's edge and care for both natural and man made ponds. Learn about vegetative buffers, design considerations, proper plant selection and maintaining the health and enhancing the beauty of a pond on your property. Presenters represent the USDA-Natural Resources Conservation Service and the UNH Cooperative Extension. Publications, including the recently published "Landscaping at the Water's Edge," will be provided or available to order.

Saturday, March 15, 2008

9:00 am to noon Price: $49
